

CounterPoint Communications™

CPC Privacy Policy

CounterPoint Communications™ owns and operates this internet site. This Internet Site Privacy Policy (Privacy Policy) explains how the Privacy Policy is implemented. CPC may change the Privacy Policy from time to time. Information submitted after any changes have been posted will be subject to the new provisions.

Personal data are collected in the following ways: 1. When purchasing the book, other products or sharing your e-mail address; 2. When you provide tips, e.g., to our investigative arm, Health Fraud Analytics™ 3. When you provide feedback and other comments, an example being the Patient Feedback link that. In this instance, comments that have been posted do not include any personal data such as names, addresses, contact numbers etc. Only broad geographic areas are identified as to where any comment originated. 4. By sharing personal information when you post comments on our posts or stories, 5. The site's internet service provider compiles "Internet Average" aggregate data reports as a routine element of its service package.

Account information, such as book orders, are not stored on the website. This information is accessible only by authorized personnel.

CPC does not sell personal information.

How to Play HMO HARDBLL is self-financed and free from conflicts of interest.

* * *